HEAR BUILDING PLAN

Chamber of Commerce Committee Considers Scheme.

OUTLINED BY R. N. HARPER

President of Organization Suggests Arrangements by Which Home for the New Business Body Can Be Erected—Is to Be Paying Proposition—Method Received Favorably.

The building committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday afternoon, at the call of the chairman, organized, and took up the preliminary consideration of a plan to erect a building for the permanent home of the chamber. About 70 of the 100 members of the committee attended the meeting, and substantial progress was made toward the object the committee has in view.

In organizing the committee E. C. Graham was elected vice chairman and Monroe Lucha secretary. In calling the meeting to order Chairman Bell stated that it was the intention of the Chamber of Commerce to erect a permanent home as soon as it could be accomplished, and that his committee had been named to take up the work and prosecute it to a finish. He said the proposed building would be an investment to the stock and bond holders and not in the nature of a free gift to the city. Mr. Bell believed the project was feasible, and he thought that it ought to be accomplished without undue difficulty or any Herculean amount of effort.

Mr. Bell called upon President Harper of the chamber, to present the general plan worked out by him to provide funds and erect the structure. Mr. Harper outlined the plan. Mr. Harper stated at the start that the project had been considered only in the light of a paying investment for the stockholders. He said he wished to disabuse the mind of all of any impression that subscription to the building fund was a charity or any sort of a sacrifice for the chamber or for the community in the up-building of Greater Washington. Mr. Harper stated that it was proposed to put up such a building as would provide a suitable home for the Chamber of Commerce, and at the same time yield a good revenue upon the amount invested. If this could be done by private firms and individuals, he could not see why it could not be done by a stock company of possibly 100 or 200 stockholders.

Mr. Harper stated that the amount of money required to buy a site and erect the structure would depend upon certain conditions regarding location, the size of the building, the judgment of the committee in charge of the project. Mr. Harper thought the building ought to stand upon one of the principal streets in the business center of the city, where the opportunities of revenue would be greatest. He said the building would be permanent for a long period of time. That fact alone, he said, would increase considerably the cost of the site.

Could Be Made to Pay.

Mr. Harper thought the judgment and experience of a competent architect ought to be taken into account, both as to the size and general arrangement of the building. As the production of revenue was one of the chief objects sought, Mr. Harper contended that every available foot of the building should be utilized to the best advantage.

As to the general plan of the building, Mr. Harper said the ground floors should be given up to stores or business places of some character. Then should be provided several stories of office rooms, made attractive for rental purposes.

The top floor of the building, with a ceiling perhaps fifteen feet high, should be reserved as the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce, where should be provided a dining-room, a clubroom, private rooms, two or three in number, and an assembly hall for the meetings of the chamber. He suggested that the dining-room and assembly hall might be separated by a movable partition, so that the two rooms could be made into one on occasions when large gatherings were in attendance. Mr. Harper also described how the club and dining-room features should be conducted by a special committee of the chamber, which would act in the capacity of a board of governors.

Scheme for Financing.

Mr. Harper suggested a general plan for financing the enterprise, as follows: Procure $50,000 by the sale of bonds; borrow $100,000, to be secured by a first trust upon the property. The site purchased would then have title in the Chamber of Commerce. He thought a part of the purchase price of the site would be taken in bonds. To erect the building, Mr. Harper said it would be necessary to raise about $24,000 in bonds, to be issued and sold in the open market. These bonds, he said, would have a 5 per cent guaranteed dividend, secured by a second trust upon the property. The building once erected, the surplus of its revenue would be devoted to paying off the first trust, which would be liquidated within a few years.

Mr. Harper suggested a plan for raising the money needed to finance the project—that twenty persons should purchase $5,000 in bonds each, making $100,000; twenty more should take $2,000 in bonds each, making $40,000; forty should take $1,000 in bonds each, making $40,000; fifty persons should buy $500 in bonds each, making $25,000, and 100 persons should take $200 each, making $20,000, and $50 should take $200 in bonds, making $25,000. This would make $240,000.

would create a fund of $285,000, which, with the $100,000 borrowed, would make $385,000, enough to finance the entire enterprise. Mr. Harper suggested a plan for dues to the club privileges for persons who were not stockholders, and went into comparative details of the cost of the proposed building with the Willard Hotel, the Oursay Building, the Colorado Building, and the proposed Randolph Hotel, to show that the income from the Chamber of Commerce would justify the outlay, as in the case of the other buildings mentioned.

Estimate of Surplus.

In another statement Mr. Harper showed how, on a liberal scale of expenditure, the gross income from the building would be $35,500 annually, and the expenses $29,400, leaving a surplus income of $16,100 annually, in excess of 5 per cent of the cost. After the reading of Mr. Harper's report, A. Lisner, C. J. Bell, and Mr. Harper each announced they were ready to subscribe $5,000 each in the bonds of the new building, an announcement greeted with loud applause. The project was informally discussed, and in general approved by J. H. Magruder, Joseph Strassburger, John L. Weaver, Thomas C. Noyes, R. N. Harper, C. J. Bell, and Thomas Hume.

It was determined that a committee of seven be appointed to consider the plan proposed by Mr. Harper and others. That may be presented, and report at a meeting of the committee to be held next week at the call of the Chair. Mr. Bell stated that he would take time to consider the personnel of the committee of seven before appointing it. The committee adjourned to meet at the call of the Chair.

EMPLOYEES MUST TAKE RISKS.

District Will Not Pay for Men Injured in Line of Duty.

In the case of John Wells, an employee of the District pound, who was bitten by a rabid dog while returning the animal to its owner, and who has since made numerous trips to the Pasteur Hospital in Baltimore for treatment, Corporation Counsel Thomas holds that the employee assumed the risk of injury, and that the District cannot be held responsible. Wells was bitten April 22, and four days later the dog died, suffering with rabies. Dr. W. C. Woodward, health officer, became interested in the case, and arranged for Wells' treatment at the Baltimore hospital, paying his cost of transportation, amounting to $35, out of his own pocket. According to the ruling of the corporation counsel Dr. Woodward will lose this sum.

Dr. Woodward modestly declined to take any credit for this when asked concerning the case yesterday. "Wells has been a faithful employee of the District for twenty-five years," stated Dr. Woodward, "and I would not have him risk the possibility of contracting hydrophobia for the sake of a few dollars."

With the exception of the police and fire departments, no provision is made by the District government for the care of those of its employees who contract disease or are killed in the line of duty.

Committee Wants Alleys Widened.

Maj. Richard Sylvester, superintendent of police, George S. Wilson, secretary to the board of charities, and William P. Richard, surveyor of the District, the committee appointed to investigate the insanitary conditions of alleys, yesterday recommended that the width of Blagden's alley, bounded by Ninth, Tenth, M, and N streets northwest; Logan place, bounded by North Capitol, First, M and L streets, and Pierce place, bounded by Freeman's alley, located between Sixth, Seventh, I, and M streets northwest, be increased to forty feet. According to the report, these alleys are occupied principally by negro families and are in poor sanitary condition.

Pay Million in Taxes.

Approximately $1,000,000 was yesterday paid into the office of the collector of taxes by owners of real and personal property who desired to effect the saving of 1 per cent a month which is added to tax bills paid before the 1st of June. At the closing hour yesterday Assessor Griffin and Tax Collector Davis said that the last week was the busiest their offices have ever experienced.
